

Talking to Your Doctor

Address your concerns and understand treatment options

Taking an active role in your healthcare and working with your doctor is an important part of achieving the best level of health for you. Research shows that active, assertive patients are more likely to follow a doctor's advice and recover more completely, when they understand their treatment and have a part in planning it. And it starts with good communication. Here are some tips to help you get the most out of your relationship with your doctor.

Be prepared—have your answers ready

If you're going to discuss a new problem with your doctor, you'll need to give some information. Jotting down some notes before your visit can help the doctor narrow down the diagnosis and develop a treatment plan.

To start, write down the answers to the following questions:

- What is your main problem?
- What are the key symptoms?
- When did your problem begin? Try to give the exact time.
- Have you had this problem before? If so, when? And what happened?
- What have you done to try and relieve the problem?
 - Have you used any medications? If yes, what kind? What happened?
- What makes this problem worse?
 - List activities, medications, foods or other situations.
- Are you allergic to any medications or have you recently taken a new medication?

- What may have caused the problem?
 - Does anyone around you have similar symptoms?
 - Did you eat some unusual food?
- What is your family history?
 - Is there a history of heart disease, high blood pressure, diabetes, breast cancer, etc. among your parents, grandparents, brothers or sisters?

Ask questions during your visit

You'll feel more prepared if you jot down a few questions to ask your doctor. Make sure you have the answers you need before you leave your doctor's office.

About my condition or disease

- What's my diagnosis?
- What caused my condition?
- Can it be treated?
- How will this affect me now and in the future?
- Should I watch for specific symptoms and notify you if they occur?
- Should I make any lifestyle changes?

About my treatment

- What treatment is available for my condition?
- When will treatment start? And how long will it last?
- What are the risks and side effects associated with this treatment?
- What are the benefits of this treatment? How successful is it?
- If my treatment includes taking medication, what should I do if I miss a dose?
- Are there foods, medications or activities I should avoid while I'm on this treatment?
- Are other treatments available?

About my tests

- What kinds of tests will I have?
- What do you expect to find out from these tests?
- When will I know the results?
- Do I have to do anything special to prepare for the tests?
- Do these tests have side effects or risks?
- Will I need more tests later?

Remembering what you've discussed with your doctor

Understanding and remembering what happened during your visit is essential to achieving the best possible care. So, here are a few more tips:

- Either you, a friend or family member should take notes.
- Ask your doctor to write down their instructions to you.
- Get printed material about your condition from your doctor.
- Want more information? Ask your doctor or your health care team—such as your nurse and pharmacist—for additional resources.
